Guarda Systems to launch revolutionary new Concrete Saw at “World of Concrete” Trade Show in Jan 2019.

Our new Edge Powercutter will be launched at the world’s largest trade show for the concrete industry early in 2019. The World of Concrete (WOC) is based in Las Vegas every January and attracts 1500 exhibitors and 60,000 attendees. The WOC is the show to get your new products noticed and this is why we have elected to launch the Edge Powercutter there.

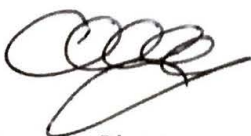

We will have a booth at the show and will also present and demonstrate our Fume Tube, FTR095 Powercutter and another new Fume Pump product we are currently refining.

However, the star of our booth will be the new Guarda Edge Powercutter. This innovative product has world-beating silica dust control along with superb slurry control. CO Fumes are also completely eliminated from the work area via the built-in hose and vacuum system. This saw has many advantages over current popular saws, including many of the famous brands due to the ability of our patented technology to control multiple hazards in one convenient package.

Silica Dust and Silicosis is a growing concern within the industry and there has been building media attention around this issue both in Australia and around the world. In the US, in 2017, the allowable Silica Standard for industry was toughened significantly and their industry regulators are focussing a lot of resource on to this issue. The Edge Powercutter is well placed to capitalise on the growing awareness and concerns around Silicosis within the industry.

Note: In 2015, the Guarda Fume Tube won “Most Innovative Product – Industry Choice” at the WOC.
